Documentary

POA

“Documentary” covers a whole variety of different photographs. Here are some things I have documented in the past - concerts, music video shoots, musician studio recording sessions, musician tours (start to finish!), cinema premieres, business activities, workshops, events, people and places.

When I talk about documentary, I essentially mean capturing the true spirit and atmosphere surrounding a person, persons, or an occasion across a series of photographs. These types of shoot are less planned, with the photos tending to be spontaneous and not staged. I love taking photos this way. You can expect a number of photographs at the end of the process. Because of the massive range of possibilities in the types of shoot, prices are available on application.

I am now also able to provide documentary videos.
